High-tech war on bus shelter wreckers

By DAVID WATKINSON

More than 100 bus shelters in Lancashire have been smashed in the past year.

And now a high-tech crackdown is being been launched.

A new iPhone application has been set up so people can report attacks on bus shelters. Concerned residents can also report the crimes to staff by texting details.

Rick Wilson, safer travel unit manager at Lancashire County Council, said: "Mindless damage to bus shelters is a real problem across the whole county but, up until now, people have been unsure whether to report damage to the police, bus companies, or the local authority.

"We want to work with Lancashire residents to tackle this problem, so we have introduced our own SMS service and teamed up with the website Love Clean Streets to provide an easy way for people to report this type of vandalism.

"Either by sending a simple text message, or downloading a free smartphone application, people can instantly identify damaged bus shelters and help us to deal with this issue."

Lancashire has a total of 2,180 bus shelters spread across the county. Almost half of them are owned by district councils, some 500 are maintained by the county council, a similar number belong to commercial operators, and the remainder are looked after by parish councils.

Mr Wilson said the new initiative meant residents could report bus shelter problems, such as smashed windows or graffiti, to a single contact point.

County Coun Tim Ashton added: "Damaged bus shelters are potentially dangerous and cause inconvenience for bus users. They can also blight local communities and adversely affect people's quality of life"

To instantly report a damaged shelter, you can text the message: 'BUS SHELTER' to 82070, followed by the type of damage, and the bus shelter location. Owners of iPhones can download a free 'app' – search for Love Clean Streets – take a photo of the damage and then send it.

Hero laid to rest

By SAM CHADDERTON

GRIEF: Jordan's coffin arrives at the church. Right, Jordan's girlfriend Lauren and his mum Sheila

Tears of sadness were lost among the rain as Earby came to a standstill for its fallen hero.

The heavens opened for the full military funeral of Lance Corporal Jordan Bancroft at All Saints' Church, Earby, on Friday, almost three weeks since he died in a gunfight on a security operation in Afghanistan.

The 1st Battalion the Duke of Lancaster's Regiment soldier was given an emotional send-off from a church packed full of 300 family and friends, and hundreds more watching on a big screen outside. Shops were closed, pupils left their desks and lined the streets alongside residents, young and old, to watch the final journey of the 25-year-old.

A crowd stood behind floral displays spelling out 'Boyfriend, Friend, Hero', standard bearers lowered their flags, and an armed guard lined the path in salute to their comrade. Parents Tony and Sheila, brothers Paul and Leighton, sister Toni and girlfriend Lauren followed the Union Jack-draped coffin carried by his fellow soldiers.

COURAGEOUS: Jordan Bancroft

Ahead of the service, Colonel Gary Deakin, of the Duke of Lancaster's Regiment, said: "He was a fantastic soldier, a first-class soldier. I remember a soldier who always smiled, had a sense of adventure, was a real team player, was loved by all his family and friends and all the boys looked up to him."

Commanding officer Lieutenant Colonel Andrew Kennedy spoke during the service about a soldier with a 'zest for life', known in the force as 'Banky' or 'J' and who spent nine years in the Army serving in Canada, Cyprus, Germany, UK, Iraq twice and Afghanistan.

He said: "He possessed loyalty in spades. He was the epitome of a leader, calm under pressure, courageous, diligent, selfless, caring. There are far too few like him. The world is a little less bright, a little less complete. England has lost one of her Lions."

Dad Tony told the congregation Jordan was going to propopse to Lauren after his tour. He said: "Not only has Jordan been robbed of life itself, but also robbed of giving life. Jordan would have made a fantastic father to some fantastic children. Jordan, you'll always be our super, super hero. Rest in peace son."

Girlfriend Lauren said: "Although I only got a fraction of the time I wanted with Jordan, I've got precious memories which I'll treasure forever. Jordan used to say we were like two jigsaw pieces that fitted together and I couldn't believe how happy I was. When I think of the future it has no colour to it. He brightened up every room he walked into."

Younger brother Leighton, 23, described his 'Big bro' as 'the perfect role model' and recalled childhood adventures which choked him to tears. "He paid the biggest sacrifice of all protecting the people he loved, most of those he had never met."

Close family then went to Salterforth Cemetery to lay him to rest with the backdrop of a three volley salute and The Last Post.

Gran to help families in Brazilian slums

By JON LIVESEY

A grandma from Pendle is gearing up to help build new homes for poverty-stricken communities in the slums of Brazil.

Maggie Randall, 68, of Priestfield Avenue, Colne, will spend two weeks in Campo Largo, as part of a six-strong team of volunteers, whose job it will be to build houses for some of the country's most deprived communities.

The trip has been organised by Mission Direct, a charity which supports locally-led projects among the world's poorest people.

Maggie, who is a member of the congregation at the Central Gospel Mission, in Goitside, Nelson, has already started raising funds for the trip and preparing for the ordeal of having to sleep in rough conditions.

She was one of 20 people who spent last Friday night sleeping beneath a shelter in a mock 'cardboard city' behind the church.

Maggie, a former teacher at Roughlee Primary School, said she was inspired to volunteer for the trip by a piece of 'junk mail'. She said: "At first I threw it in the bin, but then something made me pick it up again and when I got to the page about Brazil something just gripped me."

While in Campo Largo, which is near Sao Paulo, she will help build 50 new houses, and help prostitutes and drug addicts.

She said: "Everybody keeps saying I must be very brave, but I have been absolutely terrified. It is getting quite exciting now though.

"I'm hoping my teaching experience will help with the children. I have a lot of teaching material that I could take and leave with them."

Maggie will jet out to South America on October 23.

To donate funds towards Maggie's trip call the church on 01282 699447.

ROUGH CONDITIONS: Top, Maggie Randall gets a taste of sleeping rough ahead of her trip. Right, a Brazilian shanty town

Mayor calling Beckett kinsfolk

The Mayor of Pendle is beckoning all Becketts to join him for a family history summit at Nelson Library.

Coun Anthony Beckett is keen to hear from any of his kinsfolk at the September 18 event. He is looking to research his own family tree, in a Pendle version of TV's Who Do You Think You Are?

He said: "Beckett isn't such a common name and I thought it would be interesting to get us all together so that we can start to put together the Beckett family tree.

"Having the same name tells us that we're all related in some way, but I'd like to know how far back those relationships were.

"Researching family history is very popular these days and I'm hoping that lots of Becketts will be interested enough to come along."

The free event begins at 10am. Everyone will be given a demonstration of the library's ancestry software.

MP briefed on canal closure

MR STEPHENSON

Pendle MP Andrew Stephenson has met bosses from British Waterways to discuss the closure of the Leeds Liverpool Canal.

He was told it could be mid-October before the canal reopens through East Lancashire. After the meeting at Barrowford Reservoir, Mr Stephenson said: "They explained what a difficult decision it had been to close the canal following one of the driest periods in 100 years. They explained that the Pennine reservoirs are still the lowest in the region."

CALCUTTA CALLING: Artist Kaite with an example of her work

A young artist from Pendle has seen her work chosen ahead of 1,000 entries for a new generation exhibition in Calcutta.

Kaite Helps, 23, from Barrowford, has secured commissions across the UK, from Plymouth to Barnoldswick, as well as abroad.

Only a handful of entrants will feature in the Gen Next V Exhibition in the sprawling Indian metropolis.

The former Clitheroe Royal Grammar School sixth former said: "I am really excited to have my work shown abroad, especially in India when so much of my inspiration comes from there.

"Hopefully this will be the first of many shows around the world."

Her work, Golden Temples, a piece created with saffron-dyed cotton and natural watercolours, including paprika, turmeric, indigo and vermillion, will be showcased.

Kaite travelled extensively in northern India and south-east Asia for six months this year, and has used temple architecture, lotus buds and prayer flags as her inspiration.

She makes her paint out of spices and powders bought on her travels around various parts of the world

The exhibition, at the Aakriti Art Gallery, will run in the city from October 1 to 24. Bristol-born Kaite attended the University of Plymouth, where she gained a first-class honours degree in fine art.

Chiefly she uses her own home-made paints and now incorporates spices obtained from around the world in her materials.

A spokesman for the gallery said: "A thousand entries from artists across the globe were received and a panel of experts did the final selection to put the works of 34 young artists together on this enthralling platform. Twenty-seven are from India and there are seven international artists."

Crime fighters back on beat

Jamie Bamber has returned to ITV1 as DS Matt Devlin in the third series of Law & Order: UK. Jamie is also well known for playing Lee 'Apollo' Adama in the re-imagined Battlestar Galactica from 2003 to 2009, and has starred in Peak Practice, Ultimate Force, Hornblower and Band of Brothers.

60 SECONDS WITH ..JAMIE BAMBER

WHAT CAN YOU TELL US ABOUT THE LATEST SERIES?
We have some great guest stars, amazing guest stars, actually, like Rupert Graves and Juliet Stevenson. All the episodes I think are very strong. There are some very difficult and controversial cases, and those are the ones that I enjoy.

SO, WHICH OF THESE CASES DID YOU PARTICULARLY ENJOY?
There's one episode with more of a personal challenge for my character. In this case, an old childhood friend of Devlin's has killed himself and there are repercussions. It's interesting to take the character on that kind of journey. The show can be quite dry for us regulars. We're basically picking up the pieces of other people's life stories.

DID YOU FIND IT INTERESTING TO EXPLORE DEVLIN'S CHARACTER A LITTLE MORE?
Yeah, normally we only see a tenth of them, and the nine tenths that make up their personal life is not on the screen, it's just what they do at work to solve crimes.

COULD YOU SEE DEVLIN STAYING ON TO BECOME THE NEXT ED GREEN AND RISE TO SENIOR PARTNER ONE DAY?
No, I don't think I can see myself doing that. I think I would get itchy feet too early and while I enjoy playing Matt Devlin very much, I never thought it would be for the rest of my career.

Fall in love with the Vista - hook, line and sinker

For free and easy family holidays it's hard to beat a caravan. The Villa Caravan Park and Fisheries in Carnforth, Lancashire is hoping to reel in new holiday home-from-home owners with the launch of its best value model yet; the ABI Vista static caravan.

Comprising two bedrooms, lounge/dining room, well-equipped galley kitchen and WC/shower room, the comfortable, stylish Vista is double glazed and complete with central heating. Its attractive £24,995 price tag, exclusive to The Villa, is made more appealing by a generous trade-in deal from the Villa's owners, Pure Leisure. The company is offering buyers of a Vista caravan at The Villa the trade-in value of their old touring caravan – plus a £1,000 bonus.

Renowned for its excellent course fishing – the highly rated fishery complex is made up of four, interconnecting lakes – and away from it all setting, The Villa is a natural choice for keen anglers and holidaymakers who want a relaxing, tranquil holiday base from which to enjoy the great outdoors. The convenient location, not far from Junction 35 of the M6 and within easy reach of of the Lake District's many attractions is another plus point for holiday home owners.

Established in 1988, Pure Leisure Group is the family-owned company behind The Villa and a string of popular holiday leisure parks in the UK and abroad. The company also owns and operates Hall More Caravan Park and the award-winning Fell End Caravan Park with its £3.5 million leisure complex, both of which are idyllically located in woodland settings within the Arnside and Silverdale Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty at the southern gateway to the Lake District. Caravans are available to buy and rent at both parks along with facilities for touring caravans, motorhomes and camping pods..

More information on the Villa Caravan Park and Fisheries is available by calling 0800 652 3856 or else online at www.thevillafishery.co.uk

Laughter line-up

COMEDY KING: Jimmy Carr

Some of the biggest names in comedy are being lined up for East Lancashire's annual fortnight of fun.

Blackburn and Darwen's Comedy Festival will see more than 20 comedians perform over 17 days, from November 4 to 20.

The previously named You Must Be Joking Festival will once again see the King George's Hall complex at the centre of the fun, with selected shows held at Darwen Library Theatre and, for the first time, Thwaites Empire Theatre.

For the fourth year in a row some of the country's leading comedians will make a beeline for East Lancashire, including king of the one-liner Jimmy Carr and new BBC One Show presenter Jason Manford. Eight Out Of Ten Cats captain Jimmy will play two nights this year, and there are tickets still remaining for both gigs.

Frankie Boyle returns to the festival after his appearance in 2008, with two nights of his brand new show. The gigs at King George's Hall, both which sold out almost immediately, are part of what is reported to be the last tour for the near-the-knuckle comic and star of Mock The Week.

Scouse funnyman John Bishop will be swapping the TV studios of John Bishop's Britain for Saturday and Sunday night performances in Blackburn. The Pub Landlord Al Murray makes a return to the festival, and Dave Spikey joins the line-up with a gig at the Thwaites Empire Theatre.

● Tickets for most shows are still available to book, but they're selling fast. To book yours contact the box office on 0844 847 1664.

Believe in children — Barnardo's

Thinking of a New Career? Think Fostering

Barnardo's has been successfully providing specialist fostering services in the North West for over 30 years. In order to continue with this success we need more foster carers.

We offer our carers a

- weekly payment between £300 - £500 depending upon the needs and age of the child;
- the support of a dedicated professional team;
- ongoing training including the opportunity to complete NVQ level three in childcare.

We need foster carers who can provide both long term and short term family experiences for children usually between the ages of 8 - 18 years old.

These are children that have experienced trauma, distress and confusion. They need stability, care and a safe environment in which to thrive.

Experience of working directly with children and young people would be an advantage, but not essential.

Or could you look after a Disabled child and offer them the experience of family life until they reach adulthood?
